Eligibility criteria

- Mobility must take place within the framework of a structured research partnership or one in the process of being structured.
- The doctoral student must be hosted in an academic research structure (excluding companies).
- The grant must concern mobility projects lasting from 2 to 6 months, which may be divided into several stays of a significant duration (minimum 1 month) as part of an overall project.
- The candidate must be enrolled in a doctoral program at the University of Lorraine, but those enrolled in a derogatory year may not request the mobility grant.
- In the case of a co-mentorship agreement, the doctoral student must carry out his/her research stay in a country different from the countries involved in the co-mentorship agreement.
- The thesis supervisor, the head of thesis research unit and the head of doctoral school, as well as the doctoral student's employer if different from the University of Lorraine, must be in favour of this mobility.

Mode of funding

The international mobility support includes :

- A return trip to the host structure abroad for a maximum amount of €1,500, based on the economic rate. If the stay is split, only one return trip will be covered.
- A travel allowance package which may not exceed €5,000. This fixed price corresponds to the payment of the living expenses on site. It includes daily allowances (meals and accommodation) and ancillary costs (public transport, visas, etc.).

Exemples :

For a 2 month project (€)	Australia	China	Italy	Morocco
DrEAM package	2,678	2,678	2,728	1,637

Required documents

- Complete application form with signed letter of commitment
- Detailed CV of maximum 2 pages including produced publications and posters
- Letter of acceptance from the host institution stating the dates of stay
- Quotations for accommodation and transport costs to the host institution
